A man in Florida, in his 80s, calls his son in New York one November day. The father says to the son, "I hate to tell you, but we've got some troubles here in the house. Your mother and I can't stand each other anymore, and we're getting a divorce. I've had it! I want to live out the rest of my years in peace. I'm telling you now, so you and ! your sister shouldn't go into shock later when I move out."

He hangs up, and the son immediately calls his sister in the Hamptons and tells her the news. The sister says, "I'll handle this."

She calls Florida and says to her father, "Don't do ANYTHING till we get there! We'll be there Wednesday night." The father agrees, "All right."

He hangs up the phone and hollers to his wife, "Okay, they're coming for Thanksgiving. Now, what are we going to tell them for Christmas?"

An elderly woman had just returned to her home from an evening of Church services when she was startled by an intruder. She caught the man in the act of robbing her home of its valuables and yelled, "Stop! Acts 2:38!" (Repent and be baptized, in the name of Jesus Christ so that your sins may be forgiven.) The burglar stopped in his tracks.

The woman calmly called the police and explained what she had done. As the officer cuffed the man to take him in, he asked the burglar, "Why did you just stand there? All the old lady did was yell a scripture to you.

"Scripture?" replied the burglar. "She said she had an ax and two 38's!"

Consumer Tips

I hope I am not boring you with these security messages we get at work, but I actually got one of these PayPal messages here in my home computer this week. I have a PayPal account because that is the only way you can purchase things on the Internet (eBay for example)

WSIPC Security Alert Bogus PayPal Email Scam

We've gotten deluged today with email generated by a virus known as Mimail.I. The email pretends to be from PayPal, an online payment system. It advises you to run an included application, which collects your personal info, allegedly to update your PayPal account. Instead, it mails your credit card info to whoever is behind the scam.

It hasn't gotten anywhere here, because we block the attachment and our antivirus software is updated against it.

Beware of it at home, however.
