Wisdom For The Week :

The best possible valentine you could give your spouse today is to tell him or her that you love them (OUT LOUD)... well maybe there is another Valentine you could give just even more wonderful. Tell them that you love them (out loud) every day the rest of the year. I would like to ask you to promise me today that you will try that. Never go to bed at night that you have not told your spouse at least once sometime during the day that you love them (out loud so they can hear it).

PROMISE? (And if you are not married then just find a family member to tell. You will be surprised how it makes YOU feel!)

I just had a dream about it

A young woman was taking an afternoon nap. After she woke up, she told her husband, "I just dreamed that you gave me a pearl necklace for Valentine's day. What do you think it means?"

"You'll know tonight." he said.

That evening, the man came home with a small package and gave it to his wife. Delighted, she opened it--only to find a book entitled "The meaning of dreams".

I'm sending out some cards

A guy walks into a post office 3 days before Valentines day to see a middle-aged, balding man standing at the counter methodically placing "Love" stamps on bright pink envelopes with hearts all over them. He then takes out a perfume bottle and starts spraying scent all over them.

His curiosity getting the better of him, he goes up to the balding man and asks him what he is doing. The man says, "I'm sending out one thousand Valentine cards signed, 'Guess who?'"

"But why?" asks the man.

"I'm a divorce lawyer," the man replies.

Consumer Tips

Did you know that honey will keep in storage indefinitely without refrigeration? Nice item for your emergency preparedness supply. I hope you have at least a 72 hour kit for each of your family members. One item a month put away in storage soon adds up. With the increasing disasters around the world, who knows who, what or where it will be next?
