A TRUE STORY

An effusive client brought a litter of golden-retriever puppies to my veterinary clinic for inoculations and worming. She loved them so much, she couldn't keep from remarking about their cute habits.

As the look-alike pups squirmed over and under one another in their box, I realized it would be difficult to tell the treated ones from the rest. I turned on the water faucet, wet my fingers, and moistened each dog's head when I had finished.

After the fourth puppy, I noticed my hitherto talkative client had grown silent. As I sprinkled the last pup's head, the woman leaned forward and whispered, "I never realized they had to be baptized."

Cordell,

Thank you very much for running the "Juicy Fruit" tip again. I will try it and let you know. I hope others will offer other ideas on keeping rabbits away. I do try to build a fence around my more important plants, but it is not possible to fence them all due to the cost involved and also the fencing takes some of the beauty of the landscaping when it's in the front of the house.

I also love reading your jokes and wisdoms. Keep up the good work.

Tess

Cordell,

Thanks for you tips and Monday Funnies. I have a loft in the tool shed and get squirrels eating the things I store up there during the winter, such as paper products. I have tried to seal the loft, so they cannot get in, but they scratch until there is a hole for access. There are walnut trees in my neighbors back yard, so I cannot get rid of food for them. I am anxious to find ways to get rid of them. Please print any suggestions you get.

Thanks

Your old toveri,

Bruce
