Wisdom For The Week :

If you are going to be there anyway,
why not take the time to learn something from it while you are at it?

A woman was driving down the highway about 75 miles an hour, when she noticed a motorcycle policeman following her. Instead of slowing down, she picked up speed.

When she looked back again, there were two motorcycles following her. She shot up to 90 miles. The next time she looked around, there were three cops following her.

Suddenly, she spotted a gas station looming ahead. She screached to a stop and ran into the ladies' room. Ten minutes later, she innocently walked out.

The three cops were standing there waiting for her. Without batting an eye, she said coyly, "I'll bet none of you thought I would make it."

Consumer Tips

I don't know how much it is raining where you are living but we had 10 inches in one day here. So... leaking roof right? Yup! Roof tar, Right? Yup! Wear surgical gloves so you don't get it on you, right. Wrong! It always gets on you any way. So you use gas to get it off, right? NO! NO! NO! NO! Don't put gas on your skin. Sure it takes it off. But here is the gig. Put some normal cooking oil on your hands (or where ever it is on your skin). Rub it all around and it will dissolve the tar. Then take dish washing soap. Dawn or other more expensive brands work best. Breaks up the cooking oil like grease on a plate. Wash your hands. Now your skin is clean and soft as a baby's bottom and no gas to irritate your skin and blood and brain. Got some on my white T-shirt too. Same treatment. Cooking oil, Dawn, Wash that part in cold water and it was as white as snow when done. Amazes me how well it works every time I do this, and it works just as well on car grease. GOT IT?
