Wisdom For The Week :

In successful relations,
it is not about who is right
but rather what is right!

(Contributed by Charles Cordy... thanks Charles - by the way, if you did not know, Charles is deaf himself and tells some of the funniest deaf jokes in our American Sign Language class...
he should have become a comedian..)

A deaf lady was driving down the road with her kids in the car. She was going 44 in a 45.

Suddenly a police officer pulled her over. She wrote a note to the officer and asked why he had pulled her over. She wrote on the note that she was only going 44 in a 45. She also wrote on the note that she was deaf so he would know.

The officer wrote back on the note, I can tell you are deaf because your horn is stuck and wont stop honking.

Consumer Tips

Tried to buy rice this week? Don't bother now. It is too late. There is none available in any stores anywhere. I heard it was starting on the news 2 weeks ago so I went out and I bought the last 75 pounds that I could find in 3 different stores at $1.37 a pound. Now this week I went back to those stores and none of them have any. Costco not only does not have any rice now, they don't have any flour either. They just put something else in those spots on the shelf.

Isn't that interesting how our economy is so volatile that just the slightest thing throws everyone into a buying panic. Maybe you should go buy some 25 pound bags of beans before they are all gone too (because bulk Wheat is also all gone now).

Interesting times we live in..... that is why we started a local food buying co-op to encourage everyone in our neighborhood to start preparing for disasters by getting a reasonable supply of food, water, medicine and fuel stored when there is not a panic going on. We hope to keep our co-op going but it is getting harder to do that now. You can see some of what we have done at www.goldenmailbox.com/ep

Make it a wonderful and happy week!!!!
